BOSTON REDS PLAYED MISERABLE GAME

They Couldn't Hit, They Couldn't Field—Well,
That Tells Story

Eleven bingles, interspersed with a similar number of misplays by the Boston Reds, resulted in eleven runs for the Italian A. C. at Berlin street Saturday afternoon, and while the Italians were negotiating this little collection, the Reds were exceedingly fortunate in winning one runner around the squared circuit. This run was a gift, resulting from slow fielding by Maiden and Clari. Dan Beaton was another big reason that the Boston Reds failed to come up to expectations. The East Barre quarman was in his element and had practically everything that a pitcher could wish for. He had the Reds at his mercy all during the game, holding them to two hits. The errors compiled by the visiting team were inexcusable and were received with sharp criticism by the crowd.

The fielding features of the game were contributed by Clari and Witt. Each of them executed brilliant running one-handed stops, on which they were able to throw the runners out at first. The work of this pair with the willow had a telling effect on the runs manufactured by the winning team. Hurley, the Boston twirler, proved to have nothing but a prayer book concealed somewhere on his person. He was hit viciously and many are in a quandary to understand why the score was not piled into larger figures. A sudden change in the atmospheric conditions, bringing a heavy downpour of rain, stopped hostilities at the end of the eighth inning. The score:

Notes of the Games.
Frank Calogini announced after the game that he had made his last appearance in the role of an umpire.

Dottigi, the star outfielder of the Italians, viewed the game from the grand stand. He will make his appearance in the next game to be played by the Italians on the local field.

The present appearance of the Italian infield looks especially promising, with such stars as Maiden, Clari, David, Witt, Williams and Calogini to alternate in the respective positions. Calogini was absent from the city Saturday, his place being filled by David. David handled himself like a veteran around the first base station.

ACTION DEFERRED ON BINDING CAUCUS RULE

Not Enough Senators Present at Tariff
Discussion—Simmons Confident.

Washington, July 7.—Opposition to a rule binding all Democrats to support the tariff bill without change forced an adjournment of the Senate caucus Saturday until Monday.

Only thirty-one of the fifty-one Democrats were present and several Senators objected to the caucus taking final action to bind its members when so few were present.

Adjournment was taken to 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, when an effort will be made to secure a full attendance of Democrats. The time when the wool schedule shall take effect is still unsettled. Many Democrats are advocating that it go into effect immediately when the bill becomes law.

Chairman Simmons of the finance committee hopes to see the bill passed by the Senate and signed by the president before Sept. 1. Saturday he made this statement:

"The caucus has sustained the committee in all of its actions on the tariff bill, except on one or two minor and relatively unimportant matters. I am satisfied that the bill as approved by the caucus will pass the Senate, and with such modifications as may be made in conference between the two houses will be enacted into law."

"I am confident that there will be no disturbance of legitimate business in this country as a result of the operation of this new tariff law. I am confident that it will result in relieving the people of the United States of many burdens from which they suffer under the present tariff law. It will lay the foundation of a greater prosperity."

TOO MANY COLLEGES.

Duplication of Effort Being Made in Several States.

That there are too many colleges in the United States with inadequate equipment and support, attempting to give full courses for the bachelor's degree; that much duplication of work is going on; and that there could be a profitable merging of existing institutions to the resultant benefit of the institutions and the community; these are inferences that may be clearly drawn from the report of Dr. K. C. Babcock, in the yearbook of the commissioner of education, just closed.

The problem is particularly acute at this time in the case of state-supported institutions. Many of the states have their work of higher education centralized in the state university or agricultural college; but in nine states there are three or more state-supported and state-controlled institutions. It is in these states, particularly, that conditions are often found under which "the distribution and subdivision of what should be a unified function of the state as a whole has led inevitably to waste, duplication, undesirable competition for appropriations, and campaigning for students in order to get more appropriations."

The report concedes that in some states circumstances demand that the institutions be distributed in accordance with special needs. Thus there is an obvious advantage in the location of the Michigan College of Mines and the Missouri School of Mines in the mining districts of those states. Furthermore, Dr. Babcock frankly states that the waste due to duplication of faculty, equipment and buildings is frequently overestimated.

"There is no loss of economy or of efficiency," he says, "in carrying on in different places the work of the first year, or the first two years, of a liberal arts course or of a course preliminary to technological work, provided the faculty and equipment of these two years are fully utilized."

"It is when specialized and technological work is begun in the second or third year of the usual course, when the services of high-salaried men and enormously expensive equipment are required, that the waste and inefficiency of plants inevitably appear."

Considerable effort has recently been put forth to prevent needless duplication, both in the case of public and private institutions, but so far little actual consolidation on the part of state institutions has taken place.

Dunbar, a school boy, who has been fostered by the Ware, Mass., high school team for several seasons, will be playing with Brattleboro in the Twin State league shortly. Dunbar played some games this season with Holyoke in the Eastern association.

THREE DEAD IN BALTIMORE

As a Result of the Murderous
Work of Two Men

THREE KILLED IN NEW YORK

Frank Sturg Killed in Auto
Accident in Boston
Yesterday

Baltimore, Md., July 7.—Three dead, another in the hospital and five children orphaned summarizes the murderous work yesterday of two men within a few hours of each other in one neighborhood southwest of Baltimore.

John Louis Kurtz, twenty-three, in a fit of jealousy, attempted to take the life of Mrs. Bertha Kennedy and then committed suicide by slashing his throat with a razor.

Soon after hearing of his friend Kurtz's deed, Frank Schulz, aged forty-nine, quarreled with his wife over money matters, killed her by slashing her throat and then killed himself in the same manner. Mrs. Kennedy may live.

THREE KILLED AND MANY INJURED

In an Accident on Roller Coaster at Palisades Park on the Hudson River.

New York, July 7.—Three persons were killed and several more injured last night in an accident on the roller coaster at Palisades Park, New Jersey, across the Hudson river from uptown New York.

ENDS LIFE AT WIFE'S DEATH.
Karl Watched By Her Bedside For Several Weeks.

New York, July 7.—When the death of his wife ended yesterday the watch of several weeks that Thomas Watson, twenty-four, had maintained at her bedside, he took his month-old baby girl to Rockaway Beach, where he ended his own life by shooting, after tying a cord tightly about the neck of the infant.

The baby was still alive when found by two men yesterday afternoon.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Young Man Run Down in Boston Yesterday.
Boston, July 7.—Frank Strug, twenty-two years old, Roxbury, was killed by an automobile while crossing Haymarket square yesterday. William H. Dwyer, twenty-one, chauffeur of the car, is locked up and charged with manslaughter.

PSYCHOLOGY USED TO TRAP SUSPECT

Alleged Murderer's Heart Is Tested as Things Are Told Him by the Police.

Chicago, July 7.—Psychological tests were used by the police Saturday night to try to force Pano Noum, a Macedonian, suspected of killing Mrs. Florence Woodruff, to break his stolid reserve and answer questions.

A stained shirt found in Noum's room was shown to him, and detectives told him that a chemical analysis showed the stains to be blood. While the questioning was going on, a police sergeant held his hand over the Macedonian's heart to ascertain whether the sight of the shirt caused any heart palpitation. The knife with which the woman's throat was cut was forced into Noum's hand with the exclamation:

"Here's your knife!"

No palpitation was observed when the shirt was displayed, but the sergeant said there was a noticeable quickening of the heart beats when the man was offered the knife. He stoutly denied that the stains on his shirt were blood and said they were dirt stains received while he was working on a railroad.

SPORTING NOTES

Cashion, who was looked upon by Manager Carl Griffith of the Washington Americans as one of his most promising pitchers at the outset of the league, is now not doing regular duty along with the other men. Cashion has a wrenched ligament in his right arm that eliminates him from doing any pitching at all this season. Griffith is in hopes of giving him sufficient rest this season so that he may be in proper form for 1914.

It is with pleasure that the public greeted the reappearance of Larry Lajoie back on second base for the Cleveland Americans. Lajoie has yet to drop his head to other second sackers in the American league, with the possible exception of Eddie Collins of the Mackmen. Lajoie was ranked out a few weeks ago by Manager Birmingham, who anticipated strengthening the Naps by using him as a pinch hitter. Lajoie balked and had good rights to do so.

The national senior A. A. U. meet at Chicago on Saturday proved to be a banner day for schoolboys. Howard Drew, the Springfield, Mass., high school lad, won both the 100 and the 220-yard dashes, with comparative ease. In the 220-yard hurdles a surprise was sprung when Charles Corey, a Chicago high school boy, defeated Fred Kelley, the star Olympic hurdler. Another surprise came in the broad jump event when Stiles, a Culver military academy student, won out over such a star as Platt Adams of New York. The Irish-American A. A. of New York won the meet, gaining its winning points in the weight events, making nearly a clean sweep of them.

HOLD NEW YORKER IN FAKE FIRE LOSS

Descendant of Earl of Fire Is Charged
With Making False Claims to Fire Insurance Company.

New York, July 7.—Vivian Carmichael was held in the Tombs Saturday night, following his arrest Saturday on an indictment charging him with filing false proof of fire loss with an insurance company, by which he collected $4,950 on a $5,000 policy. Carmichael, who says he is a descendant of the Earl of Fire, was arrested at his fashionable Riverside Drive apartment after the police had threatened to break down the door unless admitted.

In 1909 he bought an old mansion, which was destroyed by fire and, according to the charges made, wedding presents which were included in the list of losses from the fire were later found in pawnshops.

LIGHTNING IN NEW YORK.

Florist Is Killed While at Work in a Brooklyn Cemetery.

New York, July 7.—A sharp and brief electrical storm struck New York City at mid-afternoon Saturday. Bolts of lightning descended in many places, killing one person and injuring several others. Rain and hail brought temporary relief from heat that had caused half a dozen prostrations during the day. Lightning played among the skyscrapers, setting several fires and turning in false alarms by contact with wires; struck the flagpole on the produce exchange and destroyed the cross on a Harlem church. Charles Hains, a florist, was instantly killed while at work in a Brooklyn cemetery. Stanley Yonkers and Philip Sullivan, standing near him, were struck and seriously hurt. Lightning hit a shovel Hains held in his hand.

FIRE CAUSES BIG DAMAGE.

Row of Buildings Is Wiped Out by Big Blaze.

Williamansett, Mass., July 7.—An entire row of wooden buildings along the Connecticut river, including the Prew Coal company and Springfield Facing company, were wiped out yesterday, in a fire which caused a loss estimated at more than $20,000.

It is thought that the flames started from the spark from a locomotive in the unoccupied buildings of the Riverside Boiler company.

HISTORIC CHURCH BURNS.

St. Charles in Montreal Destroyed with Half Million Loss.

Montreal, Que., July 7.—The historic Roman Catholic church of St. Charles on Center street was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon. The church was one of the oldest in the city and contained several valuable paintings. The loss is about $500,000, partly covered by insurance.

Forest Fire Is Gaining.

Lake George, N. Y., July 7.—A forest fire, which started on French mountain on July 4 when a toy hot air balloon landed on the slope, is still burning, a strong wind fanning the flames. Night and day delays of men are fighting the fire, which is approaching the lake and summer cottage region.

Fire Wipes Out Block.

Farmington, N. H., July 7.—A small block, owned by N. C. Ayer of Boston and containing several stores, was burned yesterday. The loss will be about $15,000.

STRIKERS RESUME WORK.

Cincinnati Ice Co. Employees Given Increase in Pay.

Cincinnati, July 7.—The striking ice company employees last night decided to return to work this morning, ending the three weeks' strike during which the city authorities seized the ice plants and operated them for the city.

Drivers and helpers are to be granted increases in pay. Recognition of the union will be a subject for discussion. The Engineers' and Firemen's union will be recognized and other demands will be arbitrated.

ASSISTANTS TO TRY McNAB CASES

McReynolds Appoints Counsel for the White Slave and Fuel
Trials.

San Francisco, July 7.—The Western Fuel and Digg-Cummetti cases, delay in prosecuting which resulted in the sensational resignation of the United States Attorney McNab, will be tried by three special assistants to the attorney general. This word was received here Saturday by Benjamin McKinley, acting United States attorney, from Atty. Gen. McReynolds.

Matthew I. Sullivan, Thomas J. Roche and Thomas E. Hayden were the special assistants named by the attorney general.

"Mr. Sullivan," the telegram stated, "is to occupy the position of leading counsel."

In view of the fact that President Wilson has already sent to the Senate Hayden's nomination to be United States attorney here, his appointment as special assistant to his own office caused some comment.

CAPTURE BY BULGARIANS

The Servian Troops Lose
One Division in a Battle

FIGHTING ON NEAR VELES

King Constantine Sends a Message to Greek
Army

London, July 7.—The Bulgarian legation at London received Saturday night official confirmation of the surrender of the Servian Timok division, numbering 4,000. Six machine guns, 27 quick-firers and a complete commissariat train were also captured. Two Servian regiments which crossed the frontier into Bulgaria, according to further advices have been driven back to the north of Egri Palanka.

Private reports to Vienna from Belgrade indicate that even Servian official quarters are beginning to fear that the campaign against the Bulgarians is almost hopeless. For Bulgaria the attitude of Rumania constitutes the greatest menace. The Rumanian army has been provisionally mobilized, but the government makes her future attitude dependent upon the course of the negotiations with Bulgaria. It is hoped at Vienna that Bulgarian statesmen will perceive the necessity of coming to a speedy and amicable settlement with their neighbor whose friendship at the present moment is of such vital necessity to Bulgaria. The Servian loss of the Timok division, in addition to the breaking up of the Drina division, is regarded in well-informed circles in Vienna as presaging a speedy conclusion of the war.

Desperate fighting has been in progress since Friday near Vedes (Koprivni), according to the Sofia correspondent of the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, who says the Bulgarian troops repulsed the Servian southern wing with heavy losses and expect to occupy Velea soon. The same correspondent telegraphs that a great battle extending over an area of 50 miles is being fought to the north of Salonica, where 80,000 Greeks are opposed to 100,000 Bulgarians. The Bulgarians since Monday last had made a number of minor attacks with the object of inducing the Greeks to take the offensive. The bait was taken and the battle was begun. The result is expected to be a deciding factor in the Greek and Bulgarian campaign. The strategy of the Bulgarian commanders forced the Greeks to abandon several fortified positions near Salonica, Langas lake and Reshik lake. The Greeks are now threatened by an outflanking attack from a column of 30,000 Bulgarians advancing from the south of Thessalonica.

King Constantine at Salonica has sent the following message to all divisions: "To my valiant army, which has shown such heroism during the recent battles, crushing the enemy whenever it has met him, I express my admiration and pride at being at its head."

SEC. WILSON ADMITS ARREST IN COAL STRIKE

He Issues a Statement After a Warning That He Is to Be Attacked for His 1904
Work.

Washington, July 7.—Declaring he had been warned that newspaper attacks would be made on him because of his work during the 1904 coal strike in Maryland, Secretary of Labor Wilson on Saturday night issued a statement telling of his arrest at that time for contempt of court, and later of an attempt to kidnap him by coal operators.

Secretary Wilson told how he worked as a miner in 1894 and was elected a member of the executive board of organizers, and that he was sent direct from the convention that elected him to take charge of a strike at George's Creek and Cumberland, Md.

JAPANESE HAVE A FOURTH.

More Patriotic Than the American Residents at Newcastle, Calif.

Newcastle, Calif., July 7.—Newcastle would not have had a Fourth of July celebration Friday had it not been for Japanese residents. Most of the American residents had gone on visits to neighboring cities, so the Japanese built a platform in a field, decorated it with American flags and Japanese lanterns and invited Americans to attend and provided day and night fireworks and free refreshments. A Japanese acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers, several of whom were American.

HEAT KILLS AT 101 YEARS.

Oldest Massachusetts Woman Had 70
Years of Wedded Life.

Lynn, Mass., July 7.—Mary Sweett Hodgdon, 101 years old, said to be the oldest woman in the state, died here Saturday. Death was superinduced by the extremely hot weather. She had been well up to three weeks ago, when she was stricken totally blind. Mrs. Hodgdon was born at Salisbury Point, Mass., on May 17, 1812. She was married when she was 20 years of age and her husband died in 1902. She leaves one son and a daughter.

Goodyear Balloon Won.

Kansas City, July 7.—Although the Aero Club of America makes its final decision according to its aeronautical maps, it appears that the Goodyear Aero club balloon of Akron, O., won the national balloon race from here on Friday.

Only nine and a half miles separated the first and third places. The Goodyear balloon went 647 1/2 miles, the Kansas City Post 642 miles, and the Kansas City II, 638 miles.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

William Johnston of San Francisco won the Pacific Coast lawn tennis championship a short time ago. Johnston is but eighteen years old and is looked upon as even as promising as McLaughlin was a few seasons ago.

Willie Mitchell, the Naps' pitcher, is making a great showing this spring. Manager Birmingham is decidedly pleased with his work. Not leaving aside Gregg and Falkenburg, Mitchell is one of the most consistent twirlers on the Cleveland staff and turns in a victory with about the same frequency as the other reputed stars.

Roger Bresnahan of the Cubs is just entering the class of the grand old men of baseball. Bresnahan has been playing ball for years, having had a varied career. It was but a short time ago that Bresnahan passed the thirty-third milestone. Apparently he is in excellent physical condition and will be seen in active service for many seasons to come. Today he takes his turn regularly behind the bat with Archer. He is looked upon as one of the most finished catchers playing the game to-day. One of his chief assets in baseball is his ability to handle youthful material.

Ed. Geers, the grand circuit driver, has a finer lot of speedsters than ever in his stables and is in hopes of performing fully as well this season as he has in the past.

Napoleon Lajoie, the king of American second basemen, says that Ray Morgan of the Senators has improved more in a year's time than any other second-sacker he has ever known. Lajoie says that in a couple of seasons he believes that Morgan will be the leading second baseman in the American league.

Baseball has its ups and downs. Last week the Phillies were ousted from their leadership by the playing of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who cleaned up a four-game series. The next series of the Brooklyn team entered was against Boston and they nearly succumbed to a like-wise result.

The New York Giants have at last struck their stride. On Monday they passed the Phillies in the National league race and won on Tuesday. McGraw was slated to win the National league pennant at the outset of the year and now the wise heads are all agreeing that McGraw and his gang are traveling the pace that wins. The Giants have a well balanced team and from start it was only a matter of time before they overhauled the league leaders. From now on it is safe to assume that the New Yorkers will not be overtaken.

President Charles Somers of the Cleveland Americans is scouting for more pitchers. Already he has ordered "Rube" Evans, the pitching sensation of a Southern league, to report at once. Evans comes from New Orleans. He is a left-hander. For some time Evans has been the property of the Cleveland club.

Pitcher Dowd of the Utica, N. Y., state league, is twirling excellent ball. He bids fair to secure a berth with some major league club. His work all spring has been of a high order. Recently, against Syracuse, he twirled a no-hit game and had a good strikeout record backing it up.

The chief cause of the Giants' present pace is said to be attributed to Larry Doyle. Doyle has been in a slump for a long time and is just beginning to find his regular pace. Doyle is the recognized leader of the club. The moment when he began to hit in his old time form he was backed up by every member of the Giants' aggregation, who are playing like fiends.

George Semmons, physical trainer for the Cincinnati Reds, died this week at Cincinnati, a victim of heat. About two weeks ago he underwent an operation and the day after leaving the hospital he was overcome. Semmons was formerly a trainer for the Chicago Cubs. He was with the Cubs this spring and went south with them. On returning to Chicago as they were drawing into the train shed, Semmons and Evers had an altercation. Semmons lost his temper and knocked Evers down. He then tendered his resignation and was straightway signed by Joe Tinker of the Redland crew. Semmons was well qualified to handle baseball players.

Fred Toney, for several years a member of the National league, has been dropped from their enrollment and he is now back in the bushes. Toney was a pitcher on the staff of the Cubs. Evers decided that it was best to dispose of him to a club in the American association as none of the other clubs in the National circuit had any use for him.

The loss of Buck O'Brien to the Red Sox will be felt by some of his ardent admirers in New England. O'Brien was with Boston for several seasons and when in form there is no better pitcher. This season, O'Brien has been performing rather creditably, but President McAleer decided that a change in the personnel of his pitching corps would aid materially in the prospects of the Boston club. O'Brien goes to the Chicago White Sox for a cash price, which was not stated.

Jake Malcolm, the Vermont pitcher, is passing the summer months at Champlain, N. Y., where he is managing and captaining a summer baseball team.

"Pink" Whineker, the Vermont pitcher of a few years back, is performing for Newport club in the Twin-State league. Whineker in his first game with Newport twirled a good game against Belknap Falls, holding them to three hits and winning his game on the fourth.

Manager Charlie Doolin of the Phillies recently purchased Milton Reed from the Davenport club of the Three-I league. Reed shows signs of making promising big league material. In 1911 he was given a tryout with the St. Louis Cards.

Northern, the former star fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is now leading the hitters in the International league. He is covering an outfield post for the Toronto club.

The Cincinnati Reds have been playing better ball for the past
